

ambioSonics

What is it?

ambioSonics is a loose group of people who do electronic music together. Everything is improvised. Nothing - ok: nearly nothing - is prepared. We are musicians, who don't want to hide in the rehearsal room anylonger. We meet in various constellations once a month at Glockenbachwerkstatt in Munich and simply play.

A friend once called it as "the traditional blues-session with the means of a todays LAN-party".
