

ambioSonics

How do they play together?

There are no agreements about key, harmonies, rhythm or style. Someone makes a start, a chord progression, a bass sequence or just a beat. The others listen, develop something suitable under their headphones and mix it then to the public. Often this develops in a completely different direction than what the beginning might have been. Once the group is in the flow, new ideas always arise. If not - nevermind. Then it starts again.

www.ambiosonics.de